Details

Raw space booth

The organizer provides booth space only. Exhibitors must use one of the recommended service contractors to build their own custom booth.

Standard booth

For the exhibitors' convenience, the host will build the booth facilities in prefabricated type in a lump. (3m×3m×2.5m~3m)

Premium booth

With an intermediate form between the fabrication-type and independent type, this is a package booth that can display the effect of the independent booth at a lower cost. * At least 18m² is required.

Terms and Regulations

Article 1. Terms of Reference

- 'Exhibitor' means the company, partnership, entity, or individual who submits the application form to participate in the exhibition.
- 'Host' refers to the "Daegu Metropolitan City, Gyeongsangbuk-do Province."
- 'Organizer' refers to "EXCO"; "Daegu International Heat Wave Response Forum", and "KOTRA."
- 'Exhibition' refers to the "Korea International Cooling Industry Expo 2023."

Article 2. Application for Participation

- A person wishing to participate in the exhibition must fill out the application form and submit it to the organizer.
- The contract is established once the exhibitor submits the completed and signed application form and pays 50% of the total fee to the organizer. The remaining 50% of the fee must be paid by April 14, 2023.

If the exhibition center is full or if the exhibited item is deemed inappropriate, the organizer may reject the application for participation. Even after accepting the application, the organizer may return it and the participation deposit within 15 days, depending on the situation of the exhibition.

- If there are changes to the submitted documents, such as the application form or the technical support application form, the exhibitor must immediately notify the organizer and will be responsible for any disadvantages that may result from failing to do so.

Article 3. Booth Allocation

- The organizer will allocate booth locations to each exhibitor based on the order of application, the area requested, the nature of the exhibit item, and other reasonable methods. The exhibitor must not object to the allocation.
- If there is a special reason, the organizer may change the allotted booth location and area through discussion with the exhibitor before the exhibition installation period. The exhibitor must cooperate with the organizer's requirements, unless it is due to force majeure.

Article 4. Exhibition Center Management

- The exhibitor must display the items stated in the application form and ensure their booth is properly managed with resident staff.
- If the exhibitor displays items that are different from those stated in the application form, inappropriate for the exhibition, the organizer may order the suspension, demolition, or bring out the items. In this case, the participation fee will not be returned and the exhibitor cannot claim compensation.
- The organizer may restrict certain people from entering the exhibition center if necessary.
- The exhibitor must not assign, resell, exchange, or transfer any or part of their allotted exhibition area without the written consent of the organizer.
- The exhibitor must not alter the original state of the exhibition center's floor, ceiling, pillar, or wall and must compensate the organizer for restoring any damage.
- The organizer may selectively exclude or restrict exhibition items or activities for the maintenance of order, safety control, and to prevent actions that may result in social criticism.

Article 5. Payment Terms of Participation Fee

- After submitting the application form, the exhibitor must receive an invoice from the organizer and pay a down payment of 50% of the participation fee within one week. The balance must be paid by April 14, 2023 (Friday).
- If the exhibitor fails to pay the balance by the designated due date, the organizer may terminate the participation agreement, and in this case, the exhibitor cannot claim a refund of the already paid participation fee.
- If the exhibitor fails to pay the participation fee, technical support fee, and other expenses, the organizer may temporarily retain the exhibitor's exhibit goods until full payment has been made.

Article 6. Cancellation of Exhibitor Participation

- If an exhibitor cancels their participation after submitting the application form, they must inform the organizer of the cancellation in writing and pay the cancellation fee, as outlined below, within 15 days of the cancellation.

- Cancellation before March 31, 2023: 50% of the total payment.
- Cancellation between April 1 and April 14, 2023: 80% of the total payment.
- Cancellation after April 14, 2023: 100% of the total payment.
- The penalty amount does not include Value-Added Tax (VAT)

- If the exhibitor provides written notice of cancellation at least two months prior to the start of the exhibition, the organizer will refund the exhibitor's participation fee, excluding the participation contract fee, based on the size of the cancelled exhibition space. If the notice of cancellation is received less than two months before the start of the exhibition, no refund will be granted.

- No interest is paid on the refunded amount.

Article 7. Cancellation or Change of Exhibition

If the organizer cancels the exhibition, they will refund all paid participation fees. However, if the exhibition is cancelled, downsized, or its opening date is changed due to a force majeure or other reason not attributable to the organizer, the participation fee will not be returned, and the exhibitor cannot claim compensation from the organizer.

Article 8. Display of Exhibits and Promotional Activities

- Exhibitors must bring in and set up their devices and exhibits within the agreed upon exhibition area during the designated period. If the exhibits are not in place by 8 p.m. on May 16, 2023, the organizer may cancel the exhibitor's participation and claim damages.
- Exhibitors must display the exhibits listed on their application form and the organizer may restrict the display of exhibits that are inconsistent with the nature of the exhibition. The exhibitor must comply with any instructions given by the organizer when promoting or selling any exhibits that are not included in the original application.

Article 9. Moving Exhibits and Equipment

Exhibitors must remove all exhibits and equipment within the specified time frame. In the event of a delay, the exhibitor must promptly reimburse the organizer for any expenses incurred.

Article 10. Exhibition Center Guard, Risk Taking and Insurance

- The organizer will take appropriate measures to guard the exhibitors and visitors.
- Exhibitors shall be fully responsible for the damage and theft of equipment and exhibits within the exhibition area that occurs during the exhibition period and during the demolition period.
- If any damage is caused by the exhibitor's intentional or negligent actions to the organizer, supervisor, or any other person (such as fire, theft, damage, or accident), the exhibitor is responsible for compensating for the damage and insuring the safety of their exhibited items.

Article 11. Fire Prevention Rule

- Equipment and all materials inside and outside the exhibition center must be fireproof according to the Fire Services Act.
- If necessary, the organizer may require the exhibitor to make corrections for fire prevention.

Article 12. Supplementary Provisions

- The organizer may establish additional provisions that are not included in these Participation Terms, if necessary.
- Any supplementary provisions will be considered a part of these Participation Terms, and the exhibitor must comply with them.
- The exhibitor must abide by all regulations set by the organizer.

Article 13. Dispute Resolution

Any disputes arising from the interpretation of these Participation Terms regarding the rights and obligations of both the organizer, supervisor, and exhibitor, will be resolved by a court at the organizer's place of domicile
